

Research for Industrial Bio Sustainability in Center For Systems Biotechnology (CSB), Santiago, Chile

The Fraunhofer Research Foundation requires a Researcher to integrate the area of Industrial Bio Sustainability, the applicants must be enthusiastic and proactive people with the desire to promote sustainability in the different productive areas of the country.

Those interested in joining the team must have a degree in Chemical Engineer, Biotechnology Engineer, Biochemistry, Chemistry or a related career that meets the following basic requirements:

- From 2 years of experience.
- Knowledge in water treatment processes and waste recovery.
- Experience in experimental design and / or piloting design.
- Experience in preparing proposals and projects for competitive funds in R+D+i.
- Intermediate-advanced english level.

Within the additional competences, they are desirable:

- Experience in supercritical extraction.
- Focus on technology transfer.
- Training courses.
- Advanced english level.

Our unit offers market salary according to the competencies of the applicant, career development opportunities according to annual performance evaluation, indefinite contract after 3 months evaluation, permanent interaction with the productive sector and competitive environment.

Applications must be sent until July 5, 2018 to the email heidy.jofre@fraunhofer.cl which must include:

- Curriculum vitae.
- Letter of presentation that expresses your intentions of growth and salary claims.